

We've cooked up an exciting new partnership!

It's all about the company you keep which is why the Hollard Health team is celebrating another exciting new partnership: by joining forces with Henner, Hollard Health will offer comprehensive health cover and support for people in Africa with a company who truly cares.

Because we want our members to be taken care of on every possible level, appointing Henner to take care of client service, administration and medical support was the natural choice. They have a global network of medical providers and are known for their efficiency and expertise in delivering medical services. But just as importantly; Henner is a company that always keeps people at the heart of what they do.

We believe that this partnership will herald the beginning of the new era in health insurance in Africa. We look forward to using our shared values and shared vision for the greater good, and greater health, of this continent.

To find out more go to hollardhealth.com

